Above and below, a flurry of activity surrounds the cross. Men cast taunts. The Lord’s angels abound but are not called. “All who see me mock me; they hurl insults, shaking their heads: He trusts in the LORD; let the LORD rescue him. Let him deliver him, since he delights in him.”

(PSALM 22:8)